

The Calvinist Cadet Corps

Head Counselor

Certification Course

Introduction

“Many head counselors take on their role with great enthusiasm, but they really have no idea what to do and how to do it.” Based on that premise, the Calvinist Cadet Corps decided to do something about it. Regardless of your level of enthusiasm, if you are a head counselor, there’s a special book for you: the Head Counselor Handbook. You will find it a valuable resource as you plan your first meeting, look for training opportunities, organize your club, and much more. This course is designed to get you into that handbook and familiarize you with the important task of being a head counselor.

Go through this booklet with your Head Counselor Handbook open. Note the page references with each question. By looking up the referenced page in the handbook and filling in the blanks under the question, you will discover resources and help for your task. Don’t underestimate the importance of running a Cadet club effectively for the boys ... and for your Lord.

30. How does a church's offering for cadeting help the boys in their own club?

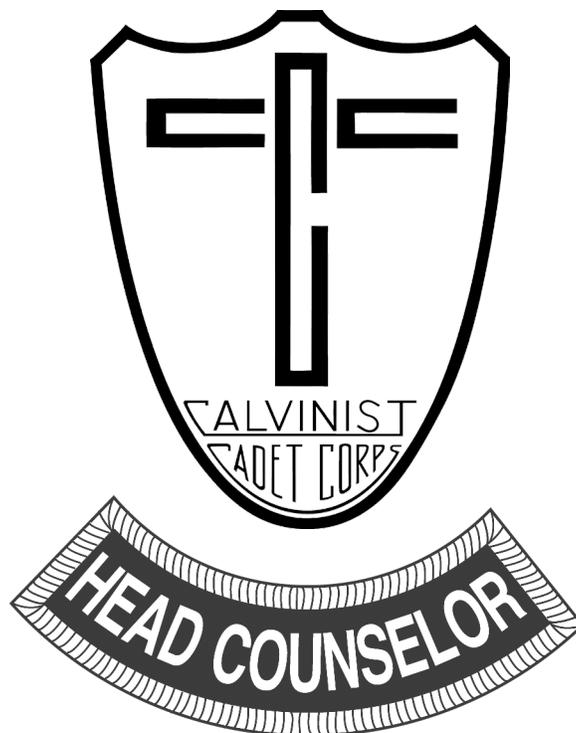

If your club is a member of a Cadet council with one or more DCEs, this booklet should be turned in to your council's DCE team, who will

1. Check it over and, if successfully completed, award you with the head counselor stripe.
2. Forward your name to the Corps office, who will mail a "Certificate of Completion" to your DCE.

If your club is an independent club, or if your council has no DCEs, you may send your completed booklet directly to the Corps office, who will then send you a head counselor stripe and certificate. If your council does have a DCE team and you send your completed booklet to Corps, the completed booklet will be forwarded to your council's DCE team.

You have completed one of what we hope will be many meaningful education workshops in your effort to be an effective and godly head counselor. Congratulations, and may God bless you.

If you are in an independent club or are in a council without DCEs, please mail this booklet to:
